ADVANCED LIPID MANAGEMENT: EVERYTHING YOU NEED TO KNOW ABOUT LIPOPROTEIN(A)

CME/CE-ACCREDITED CONFERENCE

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 2026

8:30 AM – 1 PM EST

<https://upenn.cloud-cme.com/LipidManagement2026>

PROGRAM OVERVIEW & TARGET AUDIENCE

Elevated lipoprotein(a) [Lp(a)] is an established independent and causal risk factor for cardiovascular disease. High Lp(a) levels are prevalent and present in approximately 20% of the population.

Universal screening of Lp(a) is recommended for all adults. This program will provide an overview of Lp(a) and associated risk for cardiovascular disease. The focus of the program will be on exploring how Lp(a) levels can be utilized in cardiovascular risk assessment and be used to inform treatment strategies. This program will also provide updates on the novel Lp(a)-lowering therapies in development.

This activity is designed for healthcare professionals, general internists, family practitioners, cardiologists, neurologists, vascular medicine specialists, physician assistants, advanced practice nurses, pharmacists, residents and fellows.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Upon conclusion of this educational activity, the participant will be better able to:

- Describe the association of Lp(a) with risk for atherosclerotic cardiovascular disease
- Identify patients for Lp(a) screening
- Apply Lp(a) results towards cardiovascular risk assessment
- Provide current treatment strategies for patients with high Lp(a)
- Review upcoming novel Lp(a)-lowering therapies in development

HOSTING DEPARTMENT

Advanced Lipid Management: Everything You Need to Know About Lipoprotein(a) is hosted by the Divisions of Translational Medicine & Human Genetics and Cardiology at Penn Medicine.
