

Katharina V. Schulze, PhD is an Assistant Professor at Baylor College of Medicine (BCM) and an Assistant NGS/Molecular Laboratory Director at Baylor Genetics (BG) where she mostly works on carrier testing and variant curation. Prior to her current position, Katharina earned her PhD in Genetics and Genomics at BCM and completed her fellowship in Laboratory Genetics and Genomics at the same institution.